

Eurostat electricity prices

Overview

In the first half of 2025, the average electricity price for households in the EU remained largely stable at €28.72 per 100 kWh, following a -0. Household electricity prices increased in 12, decreased in 13 and remained almost unchanged in 2 EU countries, in the first half of 2025, compared with the first half of 2024. 4 in Germany, Eurostat figures show. Trading Economics provides the current actual value, an historical data chart and related indicators for European Union - Electricity prices: How much do European end-users pay for electricity and natural gas?

Energy prices have a profound impact on consumer spending, industrial costs, and inflation. Our comprehensive data equips you with the insights you need to analyze trends, forecast changes, and make well-informed decisions.

Eurostat electricity prices

Electricity and gas prices across Europe: Which countries

Electricity and natural gas prices for households have diverged sharply across Europe in 2025, with some countries facing bills several times higher than others, according to new Eurostat

Electricity prices by type of user

Electricity prices by type of user This indicator presents electricity prices charged to final consumers.

Database

Data navigation tree Rate this page Give us more feedback 300

European Energy End-user Prices

We provide clear, comprehensive pricing data in euros per kilowatt-hour, covering all European Union member states, including non-Eurozone countries. Our subscribers receive organized data files detailing average ...

European Union

Trading Economics provides the current actual value, an historical data chart and related indicators for European Union - Electricity prices: Non-household, medium size consumers - last updated from the EUROSTAT on ...

Electricity price statistics

EU statistics on electricity prices for households and non-households analyse their evolution and the differences between countries.

Consumer Electricity Prices for Households in Europe

This page looks at the latest data from Eurostat on consumer energy prices in Europe, covering electricity prices and natural gas prices.

Electricity and Gas Prices Across Europe: Which Countries Are the Most

New data from Eurostat (H1 2025) reveals that electricity prices for European households range sixfold between the cheapest and most expensive countries, reflecting deep structural and policy differences ...

Electricity price statistics: Germany had the highest household

According to the newly published Eurostat statistics, electricity prices for households decreased in 14 EU countries and increased in 10 in the second half of 2024, compared to the second half of 2023. Electricity ...

Household electricity prices in 1st half of 2025: -0.5%

In the first half of 2025, the average electricity price for households in the EU remained largely stable at EUR28.72 per 100 kWh, following a -0.5% decrease from EUR28.87 in the second half of 2024.

Contact Us

For catalog requests, pricing, or partnerships, please visit:

<https://iwap.com.pl>

Phone: +34 919 456 782

Email: info@iwap.com.pl

Scan the QR code to access our WhatsApp.

