

Solar generators in Tibetan areas

Overview

On the Tibetan Plateau, nearly 10,000 feet high, solar panels stretch to the horizon and cover an area seven times the size of Manhattan. They soak up sunlight that is much brighter than at sea level because the air is so thin. What once appeared as a harsh alpine desert is now showing clear signs of change. This project, often referred to as part of the Talatan Solar Park cluster, is drawing attention for its. China's Talatan Solar Park covers 162 square miles and is now the biggest solar farm in the world, according to the New York Times.
